COMPETITION PROCESS

How to apply

Applications must be made by submitting the application form which can be accessed online at www.laweform.ie or www.attorneygeneral.ie

Any inaccuracy in completing the form may result in rejection. Therefore, it is in your own interest to ensure that the information supplied in all sections is correct. If it is necessary to continue on a separate sheet, please set the information out in the same manner as in the application form.

The admission of a person to a competition, or invitation to attend an interview, is not to be taken as implying that the Law Reform Commission or the Office of the Attorney General is satisfied that such person fulfils the requirements of the competition or is not disqualified by law from holding the position and does not carry a guarantee that your application will receive further consideration. It is important, therefore, for you to note that the onus is on you to ensure that you meet the eligibility requirements for the competition before attending for interview. If you do not meet these essential entry requirements but nevertheless attend for interview you will be putting yourself to unnecessary expense as the Law Reform Commission or the Office of the Attorney General will not be responsible for refunding any expenses incurred.

Closing Date: 12 noon on 26/03/2024

Applications received after the closing date and time will not be accepted.

The completed application form must be forwarded by e-mail to recruitment@lawreform.ie not later than 12 noon on 26/03/2024. If you do not receive an acknowledgement confirming receipt of your completed application form, please contact Legal and Corporate Services, Law Reform Commission – telephone: 01-6377600 (lcs@lawreform.ie)

Selection Methods

Normally the number of applications received for a position exceeds that required to fill existing and future vacancies to the position. While you may meet the eligibility requirements of the competition, if the numbers applying for the position are such that it would not be practical to interview everyone, the Law Reform Commission and the Office of the Attorney General, may decide that only a certain number of candidates will be called to interview. In this respect, the Law Reform Commission and the Office of the Attorney General, will employ a shortlisting process to select a group for interview who, based on an examination of the application form, appear to be the most suitable for the position. This is not to suggest that other candidates are necessarily unsuitable or incapable of undertaking the job, rather that there are some candidates who are, prima facie, better qualified and/or have more relevant experience. It is therefore in your own interests to provide a detailed and accurate account of your qualifications/ experience on the application form.

The methods used to select the successful candidate for this post will include:

- Shortlisting (if necessary) of candidates on the basis of the information contained in their application form.
- If shortlisted, a competitive interview, which may also include a presentation and/or an additional assessment exercise(s).

It is envisaged that shortlisting will take place on the week beginning 02/04/2024.

The onus is on all applicants to make themselves available on the date(s) specified by the Law Reform Commission and the Office of the Attorney General to make whatever arrangements are necessary to ensure that they receive communications sent to them at the contact details specified on their application form (e-mail is the preferred communication medium, but regular post may be used where deemed appropriate). The Law Reform Commission or the Office of the Attorney General will not be responsible for any expenses incurred by candidates in relation to their candidature.

Confidentiality

Subject to the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act 2014, applications will be treated in strict confidence.

Security Clearance

Garda vetting may be sought in respect of individuals who are considered for appointment. The applicant will be required to complete and return a Garda Vetting form. This form will be forwarded to An Garda Síochána for security checks on all Irish and Northern Irish addresses at which they resided. Enquiries may also be made with the police force of any country in which the applicant resided. If unsuccessful this information will be destroyed by the Law Reform Commission and the Office of the Attorney General. If the applicant is subsequently considered for another position, he/she will be required to supply this information again.

Candidates' Rights

Guidelines for dealing with appeals/requests for review

The Law Reform Commission and the Office of the Attorney General will consider requests for review in accordance with the provisions of the codes of practice published by the CPSA and referred to in the cover sheet at the front of this booklet. The Codes of Practice are available on the website of the Commission for Public Service Appointments (www.cpsa.ie).

Where a candidate is unhappy with an action or decision in relation to his or her application he/she can seek a review under Section 7 of the code of practice governing the recruitment process by a person in the recruiting body (initial reviewer). Where a candidate remains dissatisfied following this initial review, he/she may seek to have the conduct of the initial review examined by a "decision arbitrator".

As an alternative to the above, it is open to a candidate to seek to have the matter resolved on an informal basis, as set out below. If a candidate remains dissatisfied following any such discussion it is open to him/her to seek a formal review.

Informal process

- The candidate can avail of the informal review within five working days of notification of the initial decision, and should normally take place between the candidate and the person who communicated the decision (or relevant person).
- Where the decision being conveyed relates to an interim stage of a selection process, the request for informal review must be received within two working days of the date of receipt of the decision.
- Where a candidate remains dissatisfied following any such informal discussion, he/she may adopt the formal procedures set out below.
- If the candidate wishes the matter to be dealt with by way of a formal review, he/she must do so within two working days of the notification of the outcome of the informal review.

Formal Process: Internal review

- The candidate must address his/her concerns in relation to the process in writing to the Head of HR and Corporate Services, Law Reform Commission setting out those aspects of the action or decision in relation to his/her candidature that he/she wishes to have reviewed.
- A request for review must be made within ten working days of the notification of the initial decision. Where the decision relates to an interim stage of a selection process, the request for review must be received within four working days.

- Any extension of these time limits will only be granted in the most exceptional of circumstances and will be at the sole discretion of the Full Time Commissioner or other Designated Officer within the Commission.
- The outcome must generally be notified to the candidate within 20 working days of receipt of the complaint or request for review. The candidate will receive the outcome of the review by means of a written report.
- Should a candidate be dissatisfied with the outcome of the initial review, he/she may request a review by a decision arbitrator of the conduct of the initial review.

Review by the decision arbitrator

The decision arbitrator is appointed by the President of the Law Reform Commission and the Head of Administration in the Office of the Attorney General. The decision arbitrator will have been unconnected with the selection process and he/she will adjudicate on requests for review in cases where a candidate is not satisfied with the outcome of the initial review. The decision of the decision arbitrator in relation to such matters will be final.

- A request made to the decision arbitrator must be received within seven working days of the notification of the outcome of the initial review.
- The outcome of the investigation must be notified to the candidate in the form of a written report within 10 working days.

Where a candidate believes that an aspect of the process breached the CPSA's Code of Practice, he/she can have it investigated under Section 8 of the code of practice.

Informal process

- The CPSA recommends that the candidate avail of the informal process to try to resolve the matter with the recruiting body. If the candidate is still dissatisfied, he/she may resort to the formal process within two working days of receiving notification of the informal process.

Formal process

- If you are requesting a formal review you must write to the Full Time Commissioner or other Designated Officer within the Commission providing details of the breach of the code of practice and enclosing any relevant documentation that might support the allegation.
- The outcome must generally be notified to the candidate within 20 working days of receipt of the complaint or request for review. If a decision cannot be made within this timeframe, the reviewer will keep the candidate informed of the status of the review.
- Should a candidate be dissatisfied with the outcome of this review, he/she may request a further review by referring the matter to the Commission for Public Service Appointments in the form of an appeal of the review of the licence holder. He/she must write to the Commission for Public Service Appointments within ten working days of receiving the outcome of the licence holder's review.

Candidates' Obligations

Candidates should note that canvassing will disqualify and will result in their exclusion from the process.

Candidates must not:

- knowingly or recklessly provide false information
- canvass any person with or without inducements
- interfere with or compromise the process in any way.

A third party must not personate a candidate at any stage of the process. Any person who contravenes the above provisions or who assists another person in contravening the above provisions may be guilty of an offence.

In addition, where a person found guilty of an offence was or is a candidate at a recruitment process, then:

- where he/she has not been appointed to a post, he/she will be disqualified as a candidate; and
- where he/she has been appointed subsequently to the recruitment process in question, he/she shall forfeit that appointment.

Deeming of candidature to be withdrawn
